No Daisy-Petal Pickers

Like baseball writers in Cleveland who dream of a World Series whenever their Indians take four scalps in a row, some overoptimistic commentators are wondering about peace on the shaky basis of a nuclear test-

It was this possibility of misleading gullible people that loomed as the largest objection to the test-ban agreement made at Moscow by the United States, the Soviet Union and the United Kingdom.

If the agreement can be ratified, it will have no bearing on peace. It merely bans atmospheric and underwater testing of nuclear devices. It does not ban their use in war. It does not ban other kinds of testing.

It signifies no change in the relationship between the United States and the Soviet Union, though it may signify a change in the relationship between the Soviet Union and Red China. And by no stretch of the imagination does it signify a change in international relations.

THE STRUGGLE between the authoritarian bloc headed by Russia's monolithic political structure and the freedom bloc headed by the United States continues

Yet, "think pieces" are delving into the impact on the national economy of a thaw in the cold war and on the world balance of power if the United States and Russia reach an understanding about the pace of the armaments race.

It is as though daisy-petal pickers had gone full circle on Khrushchev loves-us-heloves-us-not and had ended up on love.

This is no occasion to rely on daisy-petal pickers. Under no circumstances will the men who boss Russia love Americans. They will seek varying degrees of "accommodation" with the U.S. government, to serve their own purposes. That is all.

Peace is not around the corner. There is no point in dreaming about it unless the United States and the Soviet Union quit eyeing each other with suspicion-and that isn't going to happen.

THERE IS an even stronger reason for avoiding speculation about what would happen if cold-war tension abated. The speculation plays into the hands of Marxists who say that capitalism is addicted to war and can't swear off.

If the time comes when war is no longer a threat, Marxists can be proved wrong. In the meantime, there is no sense in making them appear right by wondering what would happen if peace came.

It cannot come unless the Kremlin demonstrates that it had abandoned all plans for subversion of other governments.

When every Russian spy had been withdrawn from the United States and other non-Communist countries and when every Russian move inspired confidence, that would be time enough to wonder what would happen if peace came.

Facts Behind The Statistics

In a report on farm efficiency, the U.S. Department of Agriculture says the number of farm machines on farms is getting smaller because there aren't as many farms as there used to be.

We had to think a few minutes before remembering what this reminded us of, then it came to us. Two Indians in a new car bought with oil well royalties were riding around and got lost. The Indian who was driving finally said they must be going in the wrong direction and getting farther from the reservation all the time. The other Indians wondered why he thought so. "We're not hitting as many Indians," said the driver

There are fewer rolling pins in farm use than there used to be. The sale of horse liniment has slumped. Mail order houses aren't selling as many suits of long underwear to ruralites as they did in 1919. The sale of lamp wicks has slumped.

Information like this belongs with information about fewer farm tractors, combines and milking machines. It figures. There aren't as many Sunday neckties owned by farmers as there used to be, either, or cribs for farm-born babies, pitch forks, or those curious vessels comedians are everlastingly making jokes about.

All of which will be brought out eventually in official U.S. Department of Agriculture statistics - but hardly in the nature of anything startling. Any farmer could have guessed it in one try and a city slicker in

There's a slump in leather aprons for blacksmiths, too. Fewer horseshoes to put on. Fewer horses, you know.

For Civilian Employes Only

It already has been realized that taxes paid by Americans cannot be separated into federal, state and local, if the idea is to show the taxpayers' total burden

But until the Chase Manhattan Bank did it, no one had thought of lumping all government employes-federal, state and local -to show the immensity of that burden.

The bank's total comes to 9.5 million, about 131/2 per cent of all persons employed in the country last year. It was only 9.5 per cent in 1947, rose to 11 per cent in 1955 and to 12.8 per cent in 1960. If the trend continues, one job in every five will be on a public payroll in 1970, one job in four by 1980. Significantly, as also is true of taxation, the staggering increase is not in Washington but in state and local But Washington is not backing away from its duty to keep taxpayers loaded down with supervision. From 1955 to 1962 while the farm population was shrinking from 8.4 to 6.7 million, the Department of Agriculture was adding 25,000 employes-from 85,500 to

Letter From Max

Dear Truman Twill:

An old friend who works for the government and had been overseas for three years telephoned the other night while he was home on leave.

"What sort of work are you doing for the government?" I asked.

'I'm a coordinator." he said. Long pause at my end of the line as I pondered that.

'Do you know what a coorinator is?"

It is always encouraging to hear that book sales are holding up well despite TV and all. You are at least in middle age if you can remember when people used to make a point of reading the book before they saw the movie.

It has been said before but it bears repeating: the so-called Negro problem might just as well be called the white problem, because it is.

Travel notes:

It is a lot of hogwash that you can get sick of seafood, if you really like it

The all-night traffic of tourists and trucks on the turnpikes is surprising. All food and fuel places are open all night

There is no foundation for the myth that people in big cities are less helpful than people in small towns. The lost traveler in a big city can get better directions from a cab driver or a truck driver than from anybody else, except a policeman.

When you hear teen-agers reciting television and radio commercials and ask them if that is all they know, be prepared for a surprise. What you will get in reply will be an outpouring of labored and garbled versions of the Preamble to the Constitution, the Declaration of Independence, Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, and snatches from Shakespeare, Robert Louis Stevenson, Lewis Carroll, William Wordsworth, Robert Frost, William Cullen Bryant and other schoolbook

Do you ever wonder if the popularity of swimming could be a throwback to the time when life emerged from the primeval ooze? But don't wonder about it too much.

110,500 in seven years. Oh yes, these are civilian employes. Military employes aren't included.

By Martin Miller

Having a terrible memory, I always admire and envy persons with good memories. For instance a friend brought up in northern Ohio recently wrote me that back in the '20s and '30s he used to hear the following on the radio: "Concerts by the Westinghouse Band directed by T. J. Vastine on KDKA (Pittsburgh) at 6:30 p.m. Saturdays; noonday broadcasts from the Euclid Music Co. studio of WTAM (Cleveland) featuring tenor Joe Ferte; organ recitals from the Allen Theater in Akron over WADC with Kathryn Bernower at the mighty console; afternoon concerts at 3 by the Detroit News Orchestra over WWJ, the only music to be found on the whole radio dial at that hour; concerts by the Schmeman Band over WCX (Detroit Free Press) from Belle Isle Park, Detroit: Al Carney and Pat Barnes broadcasting "Your Hour" on WHT, the Wrigley Building, Chicago, from midnight to 1 a.m.; Mme. Lolita Cabrera Gainsborg, pianist, from KYW (Chicago); Oscar Adler from the Waldorf-Astoria; Bernard Levitow from the Commodore in New York; baseball broadcasts by Ty Tyson from Navin Field in Detroit. and Chicago Bears football games by Quinn Rvan from WGN (Chicago).

Even allowing for mistakes, how could anyone remember all that all this time? Makes you hate to think about how much and what today's children will remember in 30 or 40 years.

Faithfully yours,

The sport of judo was originally the Japanese wrestling, jujitsu, adopted about A.D. 1600 from the monks of ancient China. The Japanese use more than 300 throws, trips and holds, and when American soldiers in World War II trained in judo as a silent means of quelling the enemy, it was brought back as a sport. One of the novelties of this type of combat is that the opponent's weight and strength are used to his defeat.

Futile Exercises In Vote Speculation

By Raymond Moley

I have noticed this summer, with the 1964 election still 15 months away, two sorts of compilations of electoral votes designed to show that a Republican can be elected president next year. Some of these have appeared in the press. Some are privately distributed.

There is no harm in such a numbers game, except that in toting up the votes necessary to elect a man they carry the implication that certain states can be written off.

Since Sen. Goldwater seems to be the most prominent potential candidate in these Republican speculations, such figure exercises are generally the product of people who are for or against his nomination.

One sort of compilation seeks to show that someone other than Goldwater should be nominated because that person could carry New York and enough big industrial states, especially in the eastern half of the country, to win. These figures write off the South.

ANOTHER TYPE, which favors Goldwater, would "give" him the South, most of the West except California, and a sufficient number of Midwestern states to win. New York and several industrial states are written off.

One of the compilations is a fetching little essay which has had wide distribution by a would-be king-maker. His competition is a "blue print" for Republican success. Interesting enough, this individual apparently did not vote for the Republican ticket in 1960 and 1962. He is probably what I call a "conditional" Republican. This means a person who will support the candidate, if the GOP convention nominates the man he

Real professionals in politics may make guarded claims, but they concede nothing. They fight for every state, just as Nixon and Kennedy did in 1960.

If a candidate or his managers conclude a week or two before election that their cause is hopeless in some state or states, they keep their opinions to themselves. For Americans don't like to be taken for granted.

REPUBLICAN CHANCES in 1964 anywhere cannot be predicted now. Almost everything depends upon what happens for or against President Kennedy in the many months ahead.

The test ban agreement-which at the moment is a plus for him -may turn sour, or it may be followed by better and better relations with the Soviet in the months ahead. What will be the trend of the balance of payments and the outflow of gold? What will be the economic situation in 1964?

And since Republican speculation mostly concerns the question of civil rights and race relations, we shall have to wait to see what happens to the Kennedy status with both Negroes and whites as events unfold themselves.

There can be no assurance that the present 90 per cent Democratic preference of Negro voters will remain unchanged. Nor that this preponderance of Negro votes for the Democrats will or will not alienate many white votes.

If demonstrations get out of hand, many Negroes will be alienated from their present leaders. Some of their leaders already are critical of the administration and

Republican candidate - Goldwaan excellent case for Republicans on the civil rights issue

A tabulation of Senate votes

since 1933 and up to 1962 shows that a majority of Democratic senators have voted against civil rights issues in every instance except two. At the same time, in every case except one a majority of Republicans have voted for such measures, in five cases by 100 per cent.

IN THE HOUSE, Republicans have outvoted Democrats in proportion to their strength. House Republicans have scored from 68 to 100 per cent favorable to civil rights, while Democrats have failed to muster a majority in half of the roll calls.

Even in the South, Republican majorities in cities are far more favorable to Negro rights than Democratic majorities in non-urban districts.

These facts, which Goldwater or any other Republican candidate in 1964 can show, mean that no one can reasonably write off the South for any Republican candi-

The Risk Of War

By James Marlow

Do Nuclear Bombs Make The World Any Safer?

WASHINGTON The United States dropped an atomic bomb on Hiroshima 18 years ago Tuesday. Shortly afterward. Hitler's foreign minister, Joachim Von Ribbentrop, expressed a strange confidence in man-

'No one would be so stupid as to start a war now," he said. His foresight had never been very good. At the time he made the prophecy he was in jail in Germany, soon to be tried and hanged for war crimes.

The bomb which hit the Japanese city had more power than 20,000 tons of TNT. Now the United States has a stockpile equivalent to 35 billion tons of TNT. The Soviets have one equal to at least 20 billion tons.

Arthur T. Hadley, author of "The Nation's Safety and Arms Control," said recently 35 billion tons of TNT explosive power "would fill a string of freight cars stretching from the earth to the moon and back 15 times."

The United States and the Soviet Union, it has been estimated, ought to be able to eliminate about 90 per cent of each other in an all-out war. Last week President Kennedy talked of "100 objects flying through the air at thousands of miles an hour."

This makes the Hiroshima bomb look a little skimpy although it destroyed about 60 per cent of the city, killed about 78,000 people outright, and had a blast effect equivalent to that of all the high explosives which could be carried in a fleet of 2,000 B29s.

Bertrand Russell, British philosopher, suggested last year that bombs might not be the only cause of mortality in a nuclear attack on this country.

He thought a "great many Americans would be killed by other Americans who did not want their shelters over-filled." But, since he's a leader in the "banthe-bomb" protests, some people may regard him as odd.

After 18 years, the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union haven't come any closer to banning the bomb than a limited agreement, being signed today, to ban nuclear tests in the atmosphere and outer space and under bombs. Kennedy said this country will continue testing underground. And any signer of the agreement can get out of it on three months'

The agreement ran into trouble as soon as it was announced. France and Red China, determined to make their own nuclear weapons, even if it takes years, won't join the agreement which China calls a "filthy fraud."

When they get their supply built up, perhaps in 10 years, it still will be no match for those of the United States and the Soviet French President Charles de

Gaulle said last week France

wouldn't stop trying to build nuclear weapons unless the Soviet Union and this country agree to destroy their nuclear weapons and prohibit their use. If the nuclear powers are ever willing to destroy their weaponsnot likely in this generation-it may take another generation of arguing about the details of checking to prevent cheating. If they did agree on this, war might come sooner than if they didn't, and for one of the most weird reasons in the whole weird history of the atomic bomb. All the nuclear powers, present and future, know what a nuclear war could do to each of them.

Therefore, so long as they have nuclear weapons, they may be reluctant to start a war, not because they're bright enough to settle disputes peacefully, but because they're afraid to take A

If all the nuclear powers got rid of their nuclear weapons, then they'd all be back with the conventional - although improved weapons of pre-atomic days.

However, in pre-atomic days there were two world wars. No nation then had to worry it might be annihilated in a few minutes. Even if it lost, most of its people would still be alive. So without nuclear weapons war is less risky and more enticing.

If you can accept this grisly reasoning, then for a long time the world may be safer with nuclear bombs than without them. But to think like this is to think like Von Ribbentrop. Who wants to think underground and go on making like him, even if he was right?

Stuttering Develops At Early Age

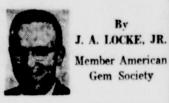

Any child with these symptoms is a good prospect for stuttering. since stuttering is usually emotional in source and motive.

As parents have more than others to do with the emotional climate of the family, their own degree of poise and emotional security are of first importance. Mr. Glasner thinks that the typical mother of the child who stutters tends to expect too much of toilet habits, eating, manners and consideration of others. In the Bible, Peridot was called "Topazos" from a Greek word meaning "to seek." This stemmed from the thick fog surrounding St. John's Island which made it dif ficult for early sailors to locate it. Today, of course, the name Topaz refers to an entirely different gem found principally in Brathe commercial mine of the Island was producing Peridots some 1500 years before Christ. Many of these early stones can be seen set in in religious artifacts in some of the very old Cathedrals in Europe.

Peridots have never been a common stone, and it is only in recent years that jewelry designers have given them new fashion importance. As far as cost is concerned, they are relatively inexpensive considering their great antiquity and beauty. DEAR MOTHERS: This recipe has been checked with the Poison Control Center and the Board of Health and it is quite safe.

Also, for those of you who do not have bubble blowers ... use a straw or the wooden spool from a spool of thread. Works just as good!

And did you know that you could take an empty spool, dampen it, rub one end on a soft bar of soap and then blow, and it would make real nice bubbles for a child? Let him do it while he is taking his bath. I used to do this when I was a kid. My, but that was a long time ago. HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I would like to tell you about a terrific idea for picnic tablecloths. I purchased two yards of 36-inch wide printed terry cloth and hemmed the ends. Presto, I had the prettiest picnic cloth in the entire neighborhood!

A person could use plain or printed terry cloth to match your favorite outdoor dishes. Naturally this requires no ironing and is ready in a jiffy for the next picnic.

DEAR HELOISE: I used to have a lot of trouble keeping salt dry. Now I keep a pretty glass turned over my salt and pepper set and it works fine. It keeps the condensation of the moisture out of the salt and it always pours freely.

MRS. EDWIN CURTY.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is the easy way I defrost my refrigerator. As it seems to be the heavy frost that wears out a tired mother, I turn my refrigerator to "defrost before going to bed at night. First thing in the morning. I turn the refrigerator to "off" and empty the water.

In two or three hours ALL ice and frost will be melted away Just wipe with a clean cloth empty the second drippings, and that's all there is to it.

The secret is to do this OFTEN. MARY JANE WILSON

DEAR HELOISE: When I wash my organdy curtains I use a mixture made of gelatin solution. Mix one ounce of the gelatin to one pint of water.

I then dilute this mixture with ten parts of hot water when I use it for starch.

My organdy curtains are the prettiest in town. CRISPING.

DEAR HELOISE: I have just removed acres of latex painted paper from all of the plastered walls in an old-fashioned house. Here's how: Lay an old sheet, bedspread, or blanket on the floor, snug up against the baseboard of one wall.

Aluminum Sun Shield

AP Newsfeatures

It wasn't too many years ago that aluminum was a material that could be worked only by professionals using special tools.

Today, most hardware and building supply stores are stocked with do-it-yourself aluminum that can be bent, cut and drilled with regular hand or power tools. One of the simplest projects that can be undertaken with this type of aluminum is a portable sun shield, suitable for the beach or backyard. The support can be a simple

-Junior Editors Quiz on-SUGAR

QUESTION: Why can't we raise our own sugar instead of importing it from places like Cuba?

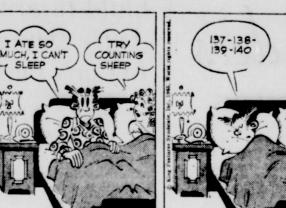

ANSWER: Beside tasting so good, sugar has tremendous importance to us because it supplies the energy and heat we need to have in our bodies if we are going to be strong and active. Sugar can come from several sources, but most important of these are sugar beets and sugar cane. Of these, sugar cane produces the largest amount of sugar.

Actually, we do produce a good deal of the sugar we consume. For example, Hawaii produces about 956,000 tons a year; California, 475,000 tons; Louisiana 403,000 tons. Total production of the United States might be about 3,590,000 tons a year. This may sound like a very large amount of sugar, vet compare it with Cuba's production of 5,710,000 tons and Russia's of 5,162,000 tons. The main source of sugar, sugar cane, requires special climate and soil conditions which do not exist in the U. S., except for Hawaii and parts of Louisiana and Florida. At the same time, we use an enormous amount of sugar in this country; far more than we can produce. That is why we have to import much sugar from other nations.

FOR YOU TO DO: Make a list of the way we use sugar in our daily lives. You'll be sure to list candy and sweetening; but you may not realize the extent which sugar is used in making other foods palatable and in acting as a preservative - in canned fruits, for example,
